The WannaCry Virus and DCB Products

Recently, the WannaCry family of security bugs made the news when it was reported that numerous products and computers world-wide were vulnerable to exploits based upon the recently released virus.

We are happy to report that no products manufactured by DCB are vulnerable to the WannaCry exploit.

The Windows software subsystem is not included in our product firmware.

5/15/2017 wannacry-web.odt